SENSATION IN ALBANY

Senator Conger Tells Details of Bribing Sen. Aulds

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 11.—Senator Ben Conger told the senate in detail today how Senator John P. Aulds demanded a $1,000 bribe nine years ago when they were both members of the assembly and how Aulds got it. The climax of the senate investigation of the charges Conger filed several weeks ago against his colleague came within half an hour of the time set for adjournment. Aulds' accuser set forth before the senators a story of legislative corruption which even the previous revelations of the investigation failed to parallel.

His story agreed in every point with that of Hiram G. Moe. He told how he and Moe delivered $6,000 to three legislators to protect the bridge interests. He then fixed his eyes on Aulds and concluded as follows: "And Mr. Aulds came out and passed me, saying, 'I guess it's all right, Conger; it feels good.'"

He added that none of the persons involved, other than Mr. Aulds, are members of the legislature now.

He went as far east as Rawlins and made observations at various points between Ogden and that place. Mr. Jeffers states that the railroad conditions in the state of Wyoming are first class and heavy traffic is being taken care of both in freight and passenger business. The thermometer between Rawlins and Evanston yesterday registered 35 degrees above zero, and the sun was shining brightly. The snow of the last storm, he says, was light, and no damage resulted.

Last Storm Hard on Sheep—Hermann Kuchler returned from Kelton yesterday evening after spending about two weeks looking after his sheep. He says the blizzard of last week was severe on the herds and meant a great many more tons of corn for the sheep. The snow drifted and became so thoroughly frozen that it was quite impossible for the sheep to get through. The condition of the sheep, however, he says, is good, considering the hard weather that they have encountered. All the herds in his vicinity have been fed corn for a number of weeks. The quarantine for the "lip and leg" disease among the sheep has been lifted, and the disease is practically extinct.

LOOK OUT FOR A LAUNDRYMAN

Who Asks For Your Laundry and Fails to Return With the Clothes—Police Meet With a New Form of Theft Which is Being Practiced in Ogden.

There is another grafter in town. He poses as a laundryman, calls at the door of the residence, asks for the laundry, gets it, hurries away and never comes back.

This is the report that came to the police station this morning from a number of housewives in different sections of the city. Those who have been duped by the fellow say that he is exceptionally polite and frank in his attitude.

He invariably appears at the kitchen door and states that he is "after the laundry" for the Ogden Steam Laundry company, or some other laundry, as he takes a notion to name.

Being quite unsuspecting, the women folks have hurriedly gathered the unlaundered goods and turned them over to "the laundry man." That's all there is to it. Neither the clothes nor the laundry man comes back.

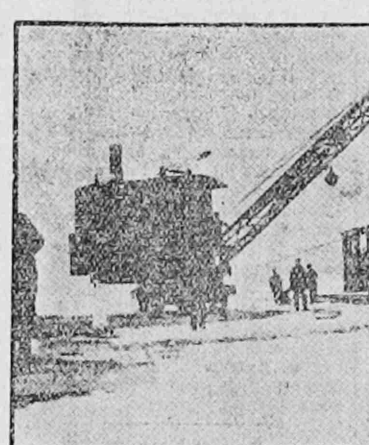

It is estimated that during the week the fellow has secured a good many dollars' worth of clothes. In two or three instances it was reported that valuable coats for children and other costly wearing apparel had been given to the man.

A pretty good description is supplied and it is thought by the officers that they will be able to land the thief.

and clay by the old German wet method. This deposit of raw materials was discovered several years ago by Henry C. Baker of Ogden, who has always had great faith in its value, and who is now pleased to witness the making of first quality Portland cement from what has been termed a worthless alkali flat.

The supply of marl and clay in the tract owned by the company is practically inexhaustible, and is said to contain sufficient material to make over one hundred million barrels of cement. These materials are so located as to enable them to be handled to the greatest possible advantage, the marl (which is carbonate of lime) being on the surface, and the clay (which contains silica, together with small amounts of alumina, lime and traces of magnesia) directly underlies the marl, so that the two can be handled by one excavator.

From the Browning crane, which excavates the soft marl and clay through the pug mills into the mixing tanks, then to the tube mill, again into storage tanks, and on to the 100

Short Line. In making this shipment the Ogden company has exceeded all records for similar enterprises. The company was organized last May, the first construction work started in June and finished product placed on the market within seven months thereafter.

The Ogden Portland Cement Co. is a private enterprise, with the following officers:
W. J. Bell, President.
D. C. Day, Vice-President.
R. E. Bristol, Secretary-Treasurer and Sales Manager.

The plant has an initial capacity of 600 to 700 barrels a day, with arrangements for adding on "units" of like capacity within a short time.

Ogden Portland cement is manufactured from a pure deposit of marl foot kilns, thence by cooler and pulverizer and by belt conveyor to the storage bins in the stock house, the material takes a journey, every step of which is carefully watched and regulated by modern machinery and competent men. In addition to the usual cement plant machinery the company makes use of some inventions of Mr. Bell, the president.

The Eccles Lumber company will distribute the Ogden Portland cement for Ogden and vicinity.

No Monopoly.

FAMOUS CANADIAN INJURED BY A FALL

GOLDWIN SMITH

Toronto, Feb. 10.—Owing to the advanced age of Goldwin Smith, author and publicist, his physicians felt little hope for his recovery when he fell in his home here, breaking his hip and shaking his system very badly. Dr. Smith was born in England August 23, 1823, and took up his residence in Toronto in 1871. A leader in the advanced thought of the world for many years, his name has been connected in the Dominion of Canada and in the United States with the theory that Canada is ultimately destined to merge her political life in that of the United States of America. During the civil war in the United States he was professor of modern history in Oxford university, England, and was an active champion of the northern cause. The list of Prof. Smith's published works is very long and includes volumes on modern and ancient history, biography, philosophy, literature and a wide range of other subjects. Princeton university gave him the degree of LL. D. in 1896.

CONTEST TO BE SPEEDY ONE

Pete Sullivan and "Birdleg" Collins will box twenty rounds in Ogden tonight at the Auditorium, and, according to the ticket sale, a large crowd will be present. A special train will be run from Salt Lake, leaving the city at 7 p. m. and returning thirty minutes after the finish of the contest.

Sullivan says he is confident of winning. He is especially anxious to make a good showing in this match, as it may help to secure him a corner in one of the preliminaries to the Jeffries-Johnson match July 4 next. Kid Hannan, Sullivan's trainer, says that Pete is better than ever and that he will win in less than fifteen rounds.

Collins will try to win as quickly as he can. "Birdleg" has one eye on the championship and believes that if he can pit away Sullivan tonight he will have shelled his hardest man in the path to the crown. Collins will have in his corner Kid Bell, Ross Burns (his manager) and Triner Biggs.

Sullivan will have in his corner Trainer Hannan, Jack Gleason and Manager Armstrong.

"Peats" Sinclair and Willie Willie will box an eight-round preliminary.

DRUGGIST IS NOW UNDER ARREST

CHARGED WITH SELLING COCAINE TO OGDEN BOYS.

Police Department Gathering Evidence Against Other Dealers in Drugs—Prescriptions Forged.

As an aftermath to the discovery of a number of forged instruments, presumed to be doctors' prescriptions for cocaine, on Walter Farr yesterday, Joseph M. Gries, president and manager of the Utahna Drug company, was arrested late yesterday afternoon on the charge of selling cocaine without a practicing physician's prescription.

The case was called in the Municipal court this morning, at which time an attorney appeared for Mr. Gries, waived the reading of the complaint and asked the statutory time in which to enter a plea. This was granted and the defendant was released on his own recognizance.

The prescription upon which the drug was sold to Farr was written with a lead pencil on a blank piece of paper and signed "Powers." It called for VIII grains of cocaine and, the victim of the drug habit says, it was furnished him without hesitancy. That the instrument is a forgery there is no question in the minds of the detectives of the city and all other officers familiar with the paper and the handwriting of Dr. Powers.

Farr had six or eight of these prescriptions in his possession and made the statement that he had forged all of them except one, and that he had been sold cocaine on each of them.

The officers have a number of other cases in hand, and it is expected that other charges will be preferred within the next few days. The officers say, too, that there are prescriptions in circulation that have been given by certain physicians, and that in all likelihood other arrests will be made.

The police department is aroused to the necessity of putting a stop to the cocaine practice, as far as it lies within their power, and Chief Browning says no stone will be left unturned to accomplish this end. A good deal of data has been gathered regarding the issuing of prescriptions for cocaine and the filling of them by certain druggists, and every case that is in hand, says Chief Browning, will be the means of ultimately bringing the parties guilty of the practice to the bar of justice. The punishment provided for by the city ordinance for selling cocaine without a doctor's prescription is a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100.

ARMY OF MEN ASKING FOR WORK

POLICE STATION CROWDED AT NIGHT WITH LODGERS.

If the cold weather continues much longer, it is feared that actual hardship will prevail among laboring men who are out of employment, and have been during the past two months. It is impossible for contractors and builders to begin operations on account of the frozen condition of the ground and the inclemency of the weather.

At the police station the lodging department continues to be filled with men who are not able to pay the price of a bed and a meal. Last night there were 50 registered at the police hospital. They were given beds and breakfast and were sent on their way this morning at 8 o'clock. There have been 50 lodgers at the station each night of this week and the end is not in sight.

Most of the men dependent upon public charity give evidences of being laboring men. Many of them have been driven from Salt Lake by the order of the municipal judge, and they are simply drifting, they know not where, in search of work.
